

Medical Disclaimer

CareLinc has provided this Internet--based long--term care training portal as a general information service. CareLinc is not responsible for any error, omission, misrepresentation, or misstatement contained in these pages.

Any medical information as provided is general information only. It is not a substitute for advice from a registered physician or other healthcare professional. It is not a substitute for facility policies and procedures. It is not a substitute for federal, state, and local requirements.

Product specifications may change without notice.

The whole of the contents on this website is the subject of copyright owned or licensed by CareLinc. All rights are reserved, and any unauthorized copying, storage, or reproduction in any form is strictly prohibited by the copyright owner.

See also Privacy Policy.